Graduate Admission

Gainesville, FL 32611-4000

At the University of Florida, all references to criminal history in admissions applications are separated upon receipt and applications are reviewed for admission without awareness of whether the applicant checked the box related to criminal justice history. A separate team of specially trained University professionals on campus security and consultation assessment will evaluate whether a past criminal offense would justify a denial of admission and make a recommendation to the Director of Admissions.

Simply acknowledging a prior criminal history is not necessarily a bar to admission and applicants with a criminal justice history should not be discouraged from applying. Please answer the following questions. Failure to answer both questions will delay processing of your application. Yes No
